

Mistress has written a show about sexuality

Description

This is part one of my diary about my experiences in the maelstrom of writing and performing it across the UK

This isn't particularly erotic. So don't bother reading any further if you just want to jerk off.

At my last really successful sold out gig organised in a very straight pop up venue at a tiny provincial comedy festival I was immediately followed and messaged on tik tok by a guy calling himself Crazy Dave â?| who said he saw my show and loved itâ?| and his friend who ran the venue suggested he should ask me to go for a drink.

As this approach to Mistress wasnâ??t strictly within the world of BDSM I politely turn him down , my bad, I should have just ignored him as he took this as an acknowledgement that we now had some kind of connection and DMâ??s, againâ?| a few days later â?| â?? you donâ??t look like a cunt but you sound like oneâ?• and some mad ramblings about baby eaters and the new world order.

And then messages AGAIN

â??That message I just sent I was in a bad moodâ?| it was out of characterâ?| I just broke up with my GFâ?•

So, obviously i I block himâ?| and hear no more from him â?|. and Iâ??m sure this isnâ??t something I need to say on fetlife but if youâ??re a newbie vanilla promoter running a pop up venue at a comedy festival, or even if youâ??re an audience member and your mate Crazy Dave says he fancies one of the actsâ?| who is a dominatrix. Donâ??t try to set them up because you think the fact they are a dominatrix means they must be crazy, tooâ?| Crazy Dave and â?| The crazy dominatrix. You guys have so much in commonâ?|. Youâ??re both crazyâ?|. or maybe they thought a dominatrix was what he needed to get him under manners.

And donâ??t get me started about the lovely kinkster woman who came to very promising show in Leicester and hit on me afterwards. Unfortunately I was too responsible and couldnâ??t do anything about it as I had a show early the next day, so I had to go to bedâ?| on my own and also because sheâ??d come to the show .. chaperoned by (or was she chaperoning) her polyculeâ?| of 5 BOYFRIENDS â?|. But as the saying goes; only regret what (or who) you didnâ??t do,
